Name of Applicant: _____

Artemis coordinators are selected for a variety of strengths and skills, including independence, ability both to contribute ideas and to build off the ideas of others, teaching experience, organizational skills, and creativity. Artemis coordinators are responsible for both administrative and academic aspects of a university summer program. They recruit and evaluate applicants, reserve classroom space, arrange lunches, and organize field trips. They also develop, write, and teach five weeks' worth of curriculum. It is particularly important that applicants be able to carry out job responsibilities without supervision—that is, applicants must be capable of figuring out what needs to be done, then doing it.

Please discuss the applicant's suitability for the position as an Artemis coordinator in terms of any of the above traits, or in terms of her ability to manage any of the discussed responsibilities. Feel free to include anything else about that applicant that you find applicable to her potential to succeed in this position. You may write your recommendation on the back of this form, or on a separate sheet attached to this form.
